

Resilience in climates of change.

Associate Professor Siautu Alefaio-Tugia

01

When a shock or disturbance arises, such as a disaster, a resilient individual or group are able to purposefully identify, access and utilise available resources

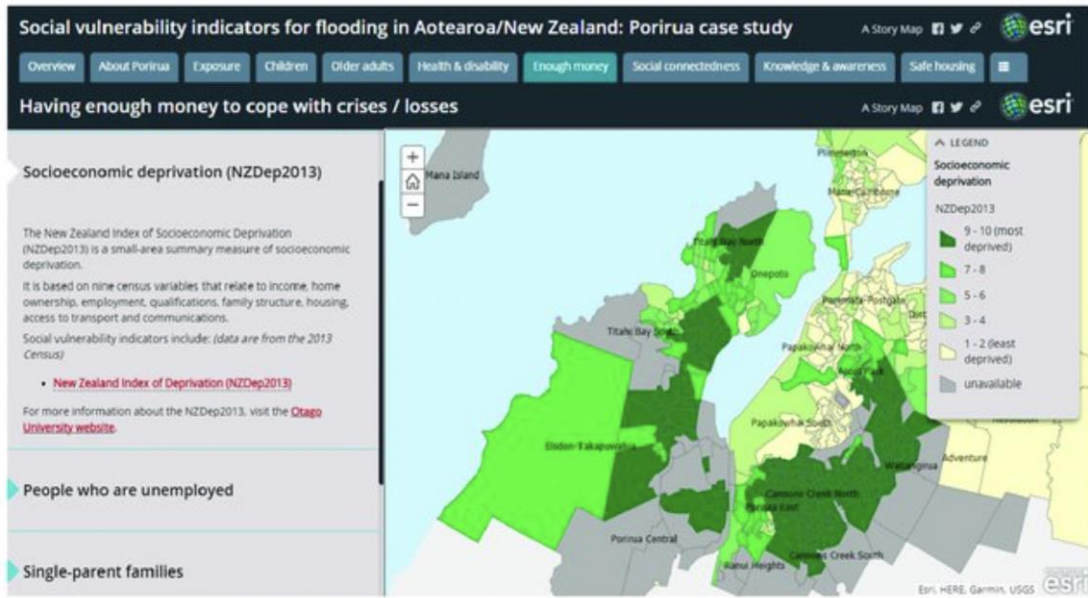

02

In disaster context
RESILIENCE and
VULNERABILITY go hand in hand

Resilience

What is it?

2021

2023 – Auckland Airport

Article

Social Vulnerability Indicators for Flooding in Aotearoa New Zealand

Kylie Mason ^{*}^{ID}, Kirstin Lindberg, Carolin Haenfling, Allan Schori, Helene Marsters, Deborah Read and Barry Borman

CLIMATES OF CHANGE

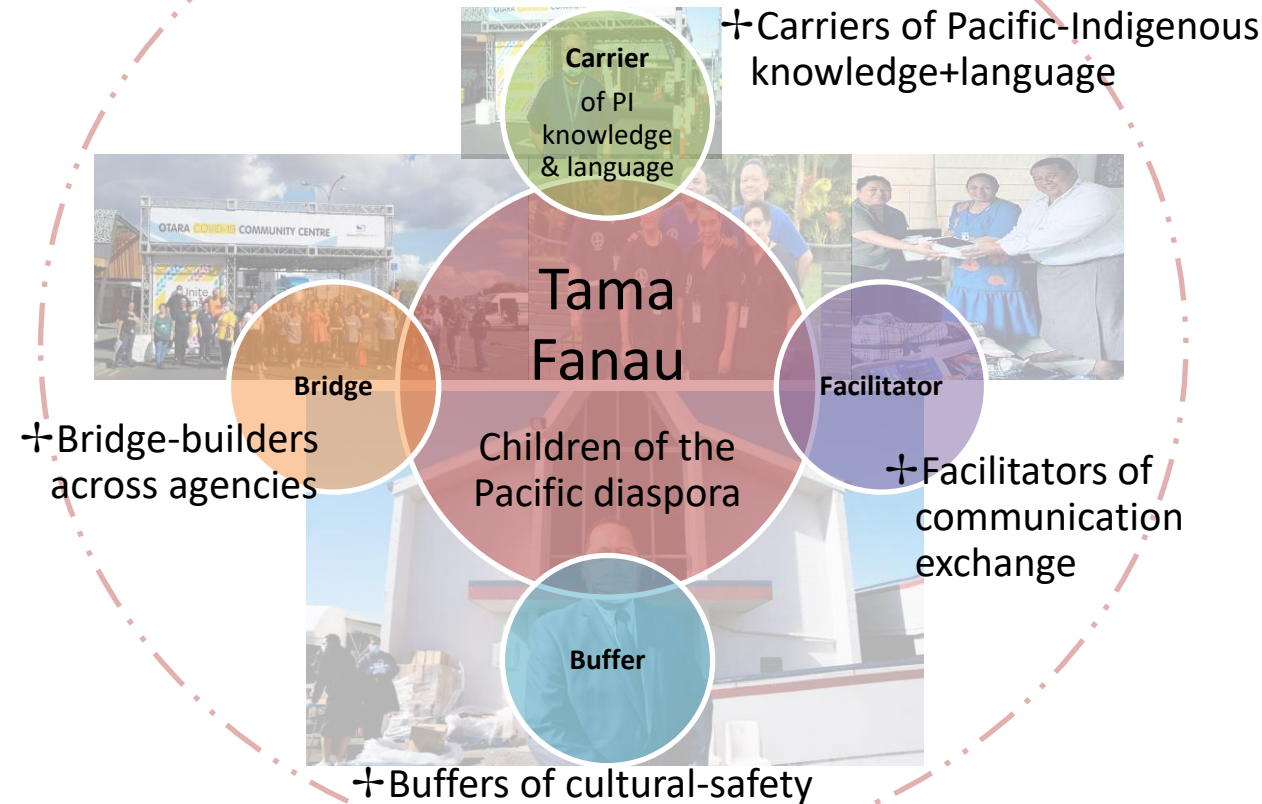

DISASTER RESILIENCE

VISIBLE
Traditional Frameworks

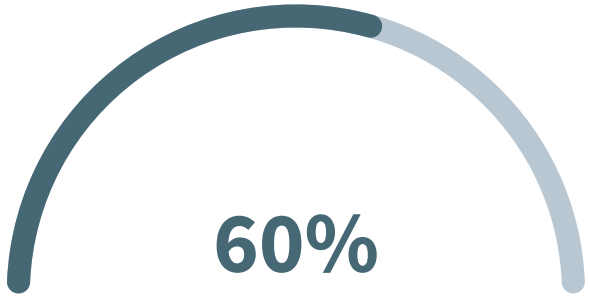

PACIFIC DIASPORA

INVISIBLE
Community mobilisation

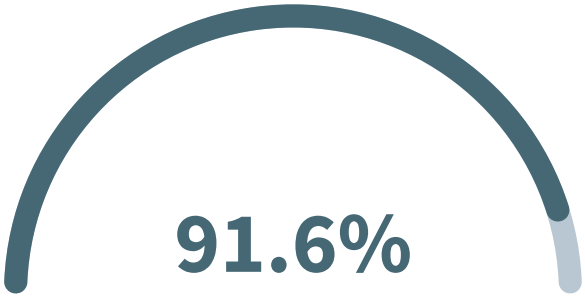

The Pacific Diaspora

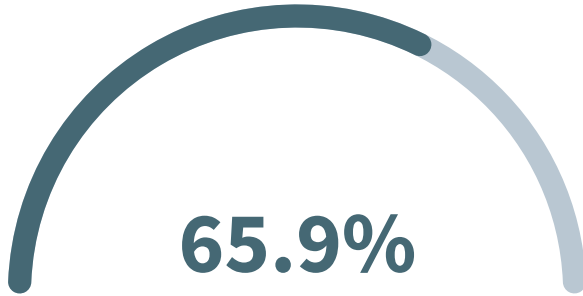

Pacific peoples in Aotearoa

Born in Aotearoa

Speak English

Live in Auckland

Global frameworks

UNSDGS

17 Global Sustainable development goals to reach by 2030

SMALL ISLAND
DEVELOPING STATES

SAMOA Pathway

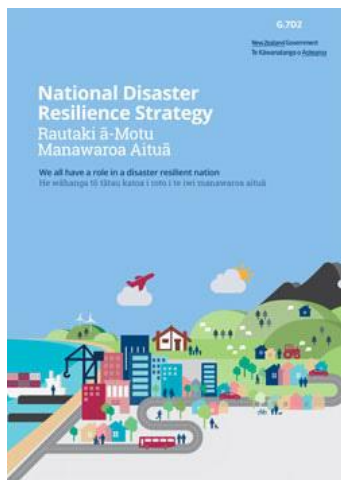

A focus on SIDS achieving Sustainable development goals

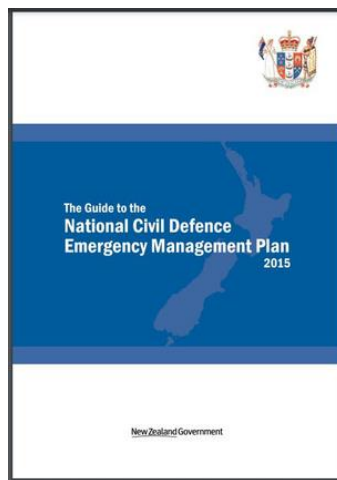

Sendai Framework

A framework focused on disaster risk reduction

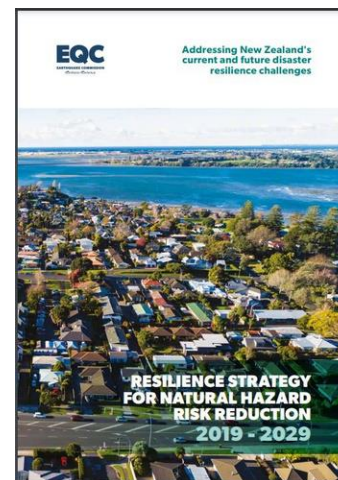

National

National Disaster
Resilience
Strategy

National Civil Defence
Emergency
Management Plan

Resilience
Strategy for Natural Hazard
Risk Reduction

Resilient Religious Communities

The effect of aid

a “political tool to trap recipients into aid dependency”(Funaki, 2016)

Pacific cultures

“a defining feature or characteristic of Pacific people” (Lilo et al., 2020)

Knowledge systems

"Traditionally sites of resilience"
(Campbell, 2009)

FAITH - Spirituality

Spiritual beliefs deeply connected with nature
(Nunn et al., 2016)

Our Landscape

O le e lave i tigā, o le ivi, le toto, ma le a'ano”
He who rallies in my hour of need is my kin”

Tui Atua Tupua Tamasese Ta'isi Efi (Former Head of State, Samoa)

Samoa Psychosocial response and recovery

1 year on.....